

Since 2006 the California School Garden Network has worked to support school gardens that enhance:

- Academic Achievement
- A Healthy Lifestyle
- Environmental Stewardship
- Community and Social Development

Over the years, the corporate, public, private and educational organizations that make up CSGN built a website, created a book and launched events that spread the word on the importance of school gardens.

Today, thanks to the continued support of our “networkers,” California School Garden Network continues to thrive. Now a program of Western Growers Foundation, we are pleased to launch a new website.

Visit www.csgn.org where you will find:

- Local and regional resources and support
- Research that supports the importance of garden-based learning
- Lesson plans and planting schedules
- CSGN's updated, Gardens for Learning, Creating and Sustaining Your School Garden book – free to download
- Photos and videos of school gardens
- Event calendar
- ... and best of all, a way to NETWORK!

For more information, please contact:

John Fisher at gardendirector@lifelab.org
Paula Olson at paula.olson@wga.com

